

E. Sanders Burwood Stores

Built in the early 1870s, Edward Sanders, conducted a general store business, pictured above, at the south-western corner of Burwood Road and Livingstone Street. The store provided the services of house, land and estate agents, which would account for newspaper advertisements in The Sydney Morning Herald between 1875 and 1880 for tradesmen, painter, carpenters and joiners to work on three cottages including a tender for 25,000 bricks.

The store also provided a servants registry office, which perhaps explains the advertisement in The Sydney Morning Herald on 25 September, 1873, pictured below.

Edward Sanders J.P. died on 15 July 1911 at his residence, 'Carshalton', Livingstone Street, Burwood, aged 79 years. He was a resident of Burwood for 43 years and actively involved in its development. He was a member of the first school board, alderman for many years and Mayor for 1885. At the time of his death his son Edward E. Sanders was the Mayor of Burwood.

WANTED, to place a little ORPHAN GIRL, aged 13 years, with a Lady who would be willing to train her as a Domestic Servant, and who would not allow her physically and religiously to suffer in such a situation; wages would not be an object. Address E. Sanders, Burwood Stores, Burwood.
